LEE'S FERRY, Ariz., July 7.—(AP)—A dogged vigil was kept along the silt-filled Colorado river here today as conflicting reports seeped in regarding the date the six member Neville expedition planned to reach this northern Arizona outpost.

Two river veterans expressed belief the party would not reach here before weekend.

Before the expedition left Green River, Utah, June 20, its leader, Norman Neville, Utah riverman, told newspapermen he estimated they would arrive here July 4.

At Grand Canyon, Emory C. Klob, photographer who has twice made the treacherous Colorado trip, said the National Park Service had picked up a short wave message from an unidentified amateur operator who said the expedition had passed Cataract canyon, most difficult stretch of the 300-mile trip from Green River to Lee's ferry.

Before leaving Green River, Nevills said he had abandoned plans to carry a short wave radio.

Texas Civil Service Workers In Capital Far Below Quota

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(AP)—The civil service commission reported today 37 states and territories on June 30 had fewer than their quota of civil service jobs in Washington than they were entitled to under the apportionment law.

Civil service jobs in the capital are apportioned among the states as nearly as possible according to their population.

Massachusetts with 1,583 was the only state which had exactly filled its quota. Thirteen states and the District of Columbia exceeded their quotas.

Texas' quota is 2,169 with 867 occupied.

Disappearance of Arkansas Woman Is Believed Explained

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., July 7.—(AP)—Mystery surrounding the disappearance eight months ago of Mrs. Mary Jane Campbell, 79, apparently was cleared today with the discovery of a number of scattered bones and bits of clothing near her home in the Devils Den community.

Coroner Glenn Riggs, tentatively identifying the remains as those of the aged woman, said she might have drowned in the gulch where a survey party found the bones yesterday.

AMBITIOUS PROGRAM FOR BRAZOS RIVER WATERSHED AREA

TEMPLE, July 7.—(AP)—Brazos district officers and directors, seeking completion of an ambitious watershed program, filed application at PWA headquarters at Fort Worth yesterday for a loan and grant of $27,425,000 for construction of six Brazos river dams and 85 miles of power transmission lines.

Dams covered in the application, all but one of which would combine power-production with flood control, were the Whitney, Bee Mountain, Cordova Bend, Inspiration Point and Turkey Point projects on the Brazos river and the Miller Springs dam on the Leon river near Belton.

The latter would be only for flood control. Also provided in the application was installation of hydroelectric machinery at Possum Kingdom dam, now under construction.

Kansas Potential Oil Production Is Showing Increase

WICHITA, Kas., July 7.—(AP)—Kansas' potential oil production reached a new record high of 3,400,528 barrels daily on June 20, an increase of 96,079 barrels daily over the preceding month, the conservation division of the State Corporation Commission reports.

The figure was based on capacity production of 18,465 wells, compared with 18,398 on May 20 which were rated capable of making 3,315,449 barrels daily.

LANDON PREDICTS SPENDING SPLURGE NOT END DEPRESSION

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., July 7.—(AP)—Alf M. Landon predicted last night "unless there is a change in the President's methods and policies, we will be right back in another depression as soon as the government's spending splurge is over."

"This has already happened once and it must be obvious that it will happen again unless confidence is restored and political abuses corrected," the 1936 republican nominee asserted. Landon spoke here over a nationwide radio network from a banquet in his honor. Pottawattamie County Chairman John Henry said 23 attended and heard the former Kansas governor open the republican national committee's 1938 campaign.

Replying to President Roosevelt's recent fireside talk, Landon charged the present depression is "purely a political depression—a depression brought on by the methods and policies of the present administration."

Arkansas Pair Claim Robbery of Numerous Gasoline Stations

DETROIT, June 7.—(AP)—Detective Lieut. Albert Ruth said today Ruppel Perry, 25, and Louis Wagon, 21, both of Helena, Ark., had related how they robbed 35 gasoline filling stations during automobile trips to California.

Lieut. Ruth said questioning of the pair arrested Tuesday night, disclosed 12 holdups in Detroit, 10 in Los Angeles, and others in Kansas City, Mo., South Bend, Ind., Omaha, Salt Lake City, and Houston, Texas, San Antonio and Fort Worth, Texas.

The two were held after a gun battle with police in which Byrs Wagon, 26, was killed and his brother, Louis, wounded.

Ford Gets Another Patent New Type Motor Vehicle

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(AP)—Henry Ford patented today a new type of passenger automobile with the motor mounted over and parallel to the rear axle.

With motor in rearangement the entire motor is balanced across the axle with a direct drive from the motor flywheel through a set of gears to the axle.

No indication was given whether the motor manufacturer proposes to make the new type of car. Officials said Ford has obtained many patents in recent years for radical changes in his cars but has not always used them.

The patent office added that the new Ford patent was similar to another motor idea patented by Ford a year ago.

ROOSEVELT

Thence he will sail to Panama, Fla., and return to Washington. The month-long trip will add about 10,000 miles to the 124,000 miles of traveling which Mr. Roosevelt has done since he entered the White House in March, 1937.

His special train will be as large as those he used for campaigning trips in 1932 and 1936. One car will be outfitted for temporary offices. The press contingent will include 30 reporters and photographers—three times the number usually accompanying the president.

First Stop In Ohio. After leaving Washington at 9:30 p. m. (Central Standard time), Mr. Roosevelt will stop first at Marietta, Ohio. There he will speak tomorrow morning in connection with the 150th anniversary of the opening of the Northwest Territory.

The president will speak at Covington, Ky., Friday afternoon, and in the evening will make rear-end platform appearances at Louisville and Bowling Green, Ky.

After leaving Kentucky, the president's next scheduled appearance is at Oklahoma City Saturday. He is expected to give his blessing to the renomination campaign of Senator Charles McNary, although another candidate—Gov. E. W. Marland—predicted last night the president would not intervene in the race.

After visiting Elliott Roosevelt at Fort Worth, the chief executive will travel to the west coast, stopping at Pueblo, Colo., July 12.

Allred to Welcome President.

AUSTIN, July 7.—(AP)—Governor James V. Allred said today he would welcome President Roosevelt to Texas and the president's arrival at Fort Worth late Saturday night.

The governor will spend Sunday at Fort Worth, then accompany Mr. Roosevelt to Amarillo Monday.

Asked to Boost Peas. AUSTIN, July 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt will be asked to boost Texas grown blackeyed peas while in Texas.

Governor James V. Allred said today he would take some prize peas with him tonight to Fort Worth and serve them at the President's special train.

The governor has proclaimed national blackeyed pea week in Texas beginning July 10 and called attention to the second annual festival honoring one of Texas' large truck crops at Centerville, July 15.

Adult Couples Swim. Each Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock the YMCA members are invited by the association to enjoy adult couples swim in the pool. Any member may invite his or her friend for the swim.

RAIL RATES UNFAIR TO SOUTH SENATOR CONNALLY SHOWS

FORT WORTH, July 7.—(AP)—Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex.) commenting here last night on the economic survey of conditions in the south, declared "it is well known that freight rates from the south to the north are much higher than similar rates from the north to the south."

Within a few days he will lay the rail rates and other matters before the National Economic Council for investigation by a grand committee headed by the council earlier this week, Connally said.

The government, he asserted, is responsible for the rail rate situation because it has authorized the economic survey of the interstate commerce commission.

"It is my hope that any survey of economic conditions in the south will include the thorough examination of powerful economic and business interests," Connally said.

He said he would bring to the council's attention the granting by the government of great subsidies to sugar mills and factories by exorbitant tariffs while most of the products of the south cannot be or are not protected by similar advantages.

The senator or passed through Fort Worth to attend a cantaloupe festival at Grapevine.

Wells and from those the government owned before expropriation. Davis, formerly of Montgomery, Ala., has a refinery and a distributing firm in Hamburg, Germany, a refinery in Scandinavia, and is building one in Dublin. His headquarters are in New York but his company operates extensively in Europe.

Oil men mentioned the possibility that the expropriated companies might attach Davis' ships should they carry oil from expropriated wells on the legal contention that the oil is theirs.

It was reported Mexico planned to raise oil taxes from four to 12 per cent to get a share of exporters' profits resulting from a decline in the value of the peso, which was quoted yesterday at 4.90 to the dollar.

Infused with the government proposed to put aside half of this increase—expected to total about 100,000,000 pesos yearly—for subsidies to exporters.

The plan would permit imports of foodstuffs like beans, corn and wheat and keep living costs down.

President Lazaro Cardenas, upon his return from a 51-day visit to oil properties, said the government will work on plans to indemnify oil companies for the expropriated properties.

fifty-fifty break. But it usually doesn't work the other way. There was considerable debate over this point when young Lord Northesk of England, separated from his wife, the beautiful Jessica Browne, whose face and figure once were among the delectable ones of the late Mr. Flo Ziegfeld's Follies.

His lordship's reason for the rupture was interesting. He was quoted as saying that in England the man is boss of the house, while in America the woman rules. Therefore, he had come to the conclusion that marriages between Americans and English were a mistake.

Many Guesses on Friend. LONDON, July 7.—(AP)—Mayfair rumor factories today turned out one name after another for the "London society gentleman" hinted as the cause of the rift between the former Barbara Hutton, heiress to the Woolworth millions, and Count Count Haugwitz-Reventlow, her second husband.

Even before the unidentified person was mentioned in the Danish court's police court hearing Tuesday, society gossip had picked a prince as the new object of the heiress's affections.

But a source close to the countess strongly discounted this. Mayfair itself seemed to be marking this guess down as a bad one and making new ones.

Speculation, therefore, has ranged over a wide field for, as a friend of the countess put it: "Barbara has lots of friends."

5. Chairman Jesse H. Jones announced the R.R. would borrow more than $700,000,000 in the next 12 months to repay loans made by the treasury.

Business Be Pleased. 6. Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), chairman of the monopoly investigating committee, predicted that business generally would be pleased by the fact-finding nature of the inquiry.

7. Conway P. Cos, patent commissioner, interpreted a recent increase in patent applications as a strong indication of industrial recovery.

McDonald announced that small home mortgages selected for appraisal in June totaled $55,184,800, an increase of 75 per cent over June 1937. Mortgages accepted for insurance during the month, he said, reached $73,363,400, a 60 per cent gain over the same month last year, and brought the total of FHA insurance to $1,645,440,985.

Monopoly investigators, meanwhile, got down to real work at a meeting today. Senator King (D-Utah), a member of the 12-man group, said he had received indications that some businessmen feared the inquiry might spread abroad.

Loyalists Stiffen Opposition Against Insurgent Drives

HENDAYE, France (At The Spanish Frontier), July 7.—(AP)—Stiffened resistance of government troops south of Teruel blocked insurgent efforts today to drive down the Guadalquivir river valley and strike toward Valencia from a third direction.

General Jose Varella's Castilian forces were at the borders of Valencia province but government troops, who had fallen back 12 miles in five days, hastily dug into new positions and fought the advancing insurgents to a standstill.

Hamilton Predicts Republican Gains

PITTSBURGH, July 7.—(AP)—Chairman John D. Hamilton of the republican national committee predicts that an "underlying current" running against the new deal will result in his party winning back between 80 and 100 seats in the house of representatives at the November elections.

In an address last night to 400 Pittsburgh party leaders, business men and industrialists, Hamilton declared that Southern democrats are in revolt against the Roosevelt administration and that the President's popularity is diminishing and that his congressional supporters have lost in popular favor.

YEARS NO PROBLEM FOR ONE FAMOUS OCTOGENARIAN*

Militant Old Caleb Asked for a Fighting Job, With Truculent Hebron for His Field—Men Whose Soul Arteries Never Harden.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

All of our efforts to get to Hebron on this journey in Palestine were thwarted, either by the extraordinary rains or by official orders which closed the road to travel, on account of the disorders. One Englishman, and a few Arabs, were killed on the Hebron road this year. The old city, which was Abraham's home, and is still called after him, "El Khalil," "the Friend," maintains its ancient reputation for turbulence. All Jews have been driven out of the city. Bands from Hebron sallied forth to make trouble over the whole southern part of Palestine. Famous fighting men are these Arabs whose home is in the shadow of the mosque which covers the cave wherein are preserved the tombs of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

Such was the Hebron that old Caleb chose for his inheritance—a hill country full of giants and warriors, born trouble-makers, hard to subdue and to rule. What a hero was the veteran soldier. No retiring on pension for him; no easy task for creating a nation, no rest and protection for his declining years. He had escaped age's perilous prudence. Like his chief, Moses, he had come to old age with unimpaired powers. He was asked was a chance to do a hard job and conduct a fair fight against fierce foes.

Once He Was A Spy

Like old Paul, this veteran Caleb had said in his heart, "This one thing I do." But he was a man of single and resolute purpose, who partook somewhat of God's own quality of patience. Forty-five years before we find him chaffing to undertake the severest task in all Canaan. We saw him as a man of forty, resolute to conquer the same giants of the hill country.

Then he was one of the twelve spies sent by Moses from Kadesh-Barnes, in Sinai, to spy out the Promised Land. Only Caleb and Joshua brought back favorable reports. They counselled an immediate advance into the heart of the other ten spies were as water; and the timid Israelites listened to the counsel of fear. Those ten spies, and all of their generation, had died in the forty years of wandering which their pusillanimity had caused. Only Joshua and Caleb were left. And for burial tomorrow.

His body will be sent to Palestine

Strickland entered the hospital

Sunday night after he returned here from his Comal county ranch, saying he felt tired. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

Chairman of the board of the Great American Life Insurance

Company and counsel for Interstate

Circuit, Inc., Strickland had been a resident of San Antonio and prominent in business circles here for 19 years.

In his previous residence, at

Palestine, he was successively district attorney, district judge, state representative, and state senator.

Governor Pat M. Neff appointed him secretary of state in 1920.

Survivors were a daughter,

Miss Pauline Strickland of San Antonio; a sister, Mrs. O. C.

Funderburk of Eastland, and brother, Judge D. F. Strickland of Mission.

Harder tasks than Caleb's clamor for the doing today. The world is said to be in the greatest crisis of all history. There is a conspicuous lack of the Caleb spirit in confronting the emergency. Old men are supinely pining for "the good old days." Multitudes of all ages are stupidly giving themselves to futile criticism of the leaders who are trying to meet the challenge of the times. There is an incomprehensible lack of the spiritual fortitude which,

with undimmed faith in God, cries, like Caleb, "Give me this hill country."

All of the grave things that are wrong amongst the nations

today can be made right by every man of heroic heart going up against his particular hill country in a spirit of faith and fortitude.

PROFESSIONAL DISTRESS

NERVE STRAIN—MENTAL ANGUISH

Doctors and their social duties sometimes have a hard time making connections, and often are the despair of their family and friends.

It may not be generally thought that the modern Doctor takes the case of the patient as much to heart as the old family physician, but those who live close to Doctors will tell you a different story. The Physician who tries to divert his mind, or fulfill social obligations, with a seriously ill patient in his thoughts, is a very absent-minded theatre companion or bridge partner.

MORE INFANTILE PARALYSIS DURING SUMMER SEASON

AUSTIN, July 7.—(Sp.)—"Infantile paralysis can be expected to occur more frequently during the next three or four months," predicts Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer. "This disease is always more frequent during the hot months."

"The germ responsible for infantile paralysis is so small that it escapes detection even with the most powerful microscopes. The first symptoms are usually vomiting, headache, fever, stiffness of the neck, pain in the legs, irritability and drowsiness. Complete recovery may follow such an illness. In the more severe cases, the germ penetrates the nervous system, resulting in paralysis or nerves controlling one or more groups of muscles. Some remarkable recoveries have been noted. "Flies or other insects have not been demonstrated to play a part in the spread of this disease. Infection spreads from person to person with the droplets transmitted by coughing and sneezing. Children and grown people that are healthy may be carriers of the germs. When present in epidemic form, about one child in each 100 is apt to suffer an attack."

Early recognition and diagnosis are essential. The use of immune serum may be a factor in preventing paralysis. A period of complete rest is essential for muscles that are affected. If parents note any symptoms of illness in their children, the family doctor should be consulted at once.

News of County Home Demonstration Clubs

Roane Club

The house flies are not only disgusting and annoying, but are a distinct menace to health. It has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that they carry such diseases as typhoid in our county and cholera in foreign countries. This fact alone should make it imperative for us to take every means of keeping the insects from our food, if one is not moved by health consideration. The fact that these insects breed in filth should move one to avoid their presence as far as possible, said Mrs. S. A. Regan in demonstration on control of house insects.

The club met with Mrs. E. L. Tally with ten members present and one visitor.

It was voted to have the cooking school August 16th with Mrs. Lillie McQuary.

The hostess served refreshments after which the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. M. L. Douglas August 2nd. Everyone is invited.—Reporter.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(AP)—The war department is considering a "purge" of some of the seniors among the 12,600 army officers to make room for younger men.

A member of the high command, Brigadier General Lorenzo D. Gasser, disclosed today that a revision of the promotion system was being arranged for presentation to congress.

In contrast with the British Army's recent elimination of some top-ranking officers, the American revision would affect chiefly intermediate grades of Captain, Major, Lieutenant Colonel, and Colonel.

These ranks have been overcrowded by some 4,000 officers who entered the army during the World War and remained in the service. The revision, aimed at preventing stagnation, contemplates enforced retirement on pensions of those who reach fixed ages without advancing to a higher grade.

COLORED LIBRARY SOUGHT FOR COLORED COMMUNITY CENTER

To the Public:
The Colored Community Center in this city has been repaired and recently repainted and is now in pretty good condition. We have entered upon a new era in work and management of the Center and are hoping to enlist the assistance of our friends in putting this institution in its rightful place in this community.

We are asking the citizens to assist us in making this the colored library of the city, thereby extending the usefulness of that institution.

The colored citizens have advanced in education in this city and desire to have a library convenient to them that they may get books to read. We are asking white friends who may have books in their private libraries to send any useful books they can spare to the Center and we will be very grateful for the contribution. Any books given notify us and we will send for them.

We have asked the city library board to consent to give us a contribution of books from the library and they have appeared willing to help us.

Any contribution to us in this matter will be much appreciated. Yours for advancement,
G. W. JACKSON,
Chair. Com. Center.

Free Classifying Service Offered One-Variety Units

COLLEGE STATION, July 7.—(Sp.)—The service which provides free classification of cotton produced by organized one-variety groups is now available.

E. A. Miller, agronomist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, said today.

Forms and instructions may be obtained from any of the cotton classifying offices of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Addresses of offices in Texas are: P. O. Box 1366, Dallas; P. O. Box 1140, Austin; and 509 U. S. Court House, El Paso.

The service, which will be inaugurated with the current crop, provides free classification of a sample from each bale of cotton produced by a member of a qualified improvement group.

Notification of the grade and staple length according to the U. S. Cotton Standards, will be returned to the grower from whose bale the sample was drawn.

The service is not available to individual growers, but only to members of organized cotton improvement groups.

Miller urged that one-variety associations that desire the free service apply as promptly as possible, so that the bureau may arrange details of handling and shipping the samples.

Only those communities that will qualify by meeting the rules and regulations of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics will be eligible to receive the classifying service, Miller said.

WARNING ISSUED CARE NEEDED IN SELECTION OF FOSTER HOMES BEFORE CHILDREN ARE PLACED

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL
AUSTIN, July 7.—(AP)—The division of child welfare in the state board of control warns there should be careful investigation of foster homes before children are placed in them.

The warning was issued as a result of the tragic death of 13-year-old Marvin Dale Noblett near Alpine in an asserted insurance collection plot. A jury assessed the death penalty on Francis Marion Black, Jr., and the case is on appeal.

Mrs. Bobbie Smith, widowed mother of the boy, testified she placed him in care of Black because she wanted to give him a better home than she could provide.

"The death of Marvin Dale, placed in a foster home by his mother, brings this matter forcibly to our attention," said Mrs. Violet S. Greenhill, chief of the division.

"This was an extreme instance of tragic result of misplacing of children, but there are many cases of most unfortunate outcomes to arrangements made with good intentions. The tragedy and unhappiness becomes apparent when it is too late."

She tendered the assistance of the division in inquiring into circumstances surrounding the placing of Marvin Dale and made suggestions for the guidance of parents who may find it necessary to place children outside their natural homes.

Her first suggestion was that the parent, in most cases a widow, write the division of child welfare, board of control, Austin, for information and advice.

The division has special investigators, or case workers, in various cities and often is able to detail one of these to check on contemplated foster homes. In addition, it is in close touch with city and county officials, as well as church and charitable organizations.

"Parents will receive sympathetic response and immediate attention from people who are professionals in handling such problems and know their jobs," Mrs. Greenhill said.

"The one suggestion was that if parents who had to find other homes for children did not communicate with the division they should by all means do so with addition, it is in close touch with city and county officials, as well as church and charitable organizations."

"The placing should never be indiscriminate and without thorough investigation," she said.

In investigating foster homes the division always inquires to determine the "real" motive for wanting a child.

"The one given at first it not always the real one," Mrs. Greenhill continued. "It is the real one that is most important."

"It may be that a couple is not happily married and they want to see if the presence of a child will bring them closer together."

"A child may be sought to buy up the disposition of one or both; or it may be wanted by bereaved parents who think it will take the place of a child who died."

"Those reasons are undesirable, they are poor motives for they consider first the happiness of the foster parents and not that of the child, which should be primary."

"With regard to replacing a child who has died, it is something no child can do. The grief of the parents is too great. We advise the parents to wait until the loss is not so poignant."

Mrs. Greenhill said the division seeks to determine whether the child will have happy home conditions.

It wants to know whether the proposed home has such economic status placing a child within it will not be a strain on finances.

It also wants to be sure the foster parents are in good physical health so there will be no breakdown for them or the child.

It is interested in knowing whether the child will have proper social rearing and be molded into a good citizen.

Adoption earlier than four months is discouraged, because, Mrs. Greenhill said, the mentality of a child cannot be definitely established before that age. There have been some unhappy

TWO DEAD AND ONE WOUNDED SCORE FOR KENTUCKY TRIAL

LONDON, Ky., July 7.—(AP)—Two dead and one wounded was the record today of violence during the Harlan labor conspiracy trial now in its eighth week.

Frank White, 36, a defendant in the anti-union indictment involving 39 men and 17 corporations, was killed last night—shot through the head as he sat on the front porch of a tourist camp near Corbin, Ky., 14 miles south of London.

State police and Sheriff Fred Lucas took into custody Chris Patterson, who once was convicted of dynamiting the home of a United Mine Workers of America organizer at Pineville.

A month ago a miner who had been subpoenaed by the government but who had not testified was shot to death in a fight in front of a Harlan county saloon. Herbert Cavood, then sheriff, said the incident had no connection with the trial.

The same day the miner was killed another government witness, who had testified, reported he was kidnapped from a restaurant but broke away from his unnamed captors. Last Tuesday another deputized constable, Lee Fleener, was arrested on a shooting charge after a man once convicted of killing Fleener's father was wounded in a gunfight near Harlan.

PLAN CONTINUANCE NYA PROJECTS FOR CORSICANA SECTOR

District offices of the National Youth Administration at Mexia have filed or are preparing to file applications to continue a number of unfinished projects during the ensuing fiscal year, Marlon Dark, area project superintendent, NYA, has announced. The federal fiscal year closed June 30.

The projects in Corsicana, which renewed applications are submitted for, employ approximately 60 youths, of which about 20 are girls.
"At present, Corsicana's number one project is sponsored by the P. and S. Hospital. This project is set up for thirty girls between the ages of 18 and 24 inclusive who assist the nurses in performing various duties of the hospital. The chief purpose of this project is to give the youths a thorough training in practical nursing," Mr. Dark continued.
Corsicana public schools are sponsoring a workshop project for boys where the boys receive 35 hours of practical training each month.

A number of youths assist the county agent and home demonstration agents in stenographic work and demonstrations.
The Texas highway department is assisted by NYA boys in building roadside parks, baffle walls, road turnouts and other helpful needs.
NYA youths assist the Texas relief commission in stenographic work and at the same time receive training and experience in this field of work.
Mr. Dark said he believed that approximately 250 youths will be given assistance and training in the NYA program this year in Navarro county.

Dall Is Granted New Trial in Libel Suit
ALBANY, N. Y., July 7.—(AP)—The plea of Curtis B. Dall, former son-in-law of President Roosevelt, for a new trial in a $250,000 libel suit against Time Magazine, Inc., was granted today by the state court of appeals.
Dall claimed that he was libelled in an article appearing in the April 23, 1934, issue of the magazine, which he said indicated he shot himself in the White House in the presence of his estranged wife, the present Anna Eleanor Boettiger, and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Appended to the magazine article, however, was an explanation that the description of the shooting was imaginary and merely to show contrasting methods of news coverage.
The tribunal upheld an appellate division decision setting aside a verdict for the publisher.

Eight Survive In National College Tennis Tournament
HAVERFORD, Pa., July 7.—(AP)—Competition for the National Intercollegiate tennis championship had narrowed to eight men today.
Top-seeded Joseph Hunt, of the University of Southern California, remained a favorite with Morey Lewis, of Kenyon College, rated a "darkhorse" following his surprise triumph yesterday over Julius Heldman, of the University of California at Los Angeles.

The remaining six in the quarter-final round are: William and Chester Murphy, of the University of Chicago; Bobby Harman, of the University of California; Frank Guernsey, Jr., of Rice; Robert Kamrath, of the University of Texas; and Lewis Wehrell, of Southern California.
Southern League All-Star Contest
ATLANTA, July 7.—(AP)—Taking a tip from their big city cousins, the majors, Southern association baseball clubs assemble here tonight their outstanding talent for the first all-star baseball game in Southern history.

LOST PROGRESS

"Civilization has to be re-learned by every generation," says Will Durant, philosopher.

It has to be re-learned, too. And from present indications, the next generation is going to have plenty to learn. It is hard to find in human history a generation that has sunk so far as ours has below the ideals of its immediate predecessors. This is true particularly of human beings functioning in the mass, as nations and as social classes.

Individually, people in many countries seem pretty decent in comparison with their ancestors. Some social groups, too, make a good showing in comparison with those of previous eras. Much of our social thinking and practices is more humane than it used to be.

Yet nations in their relation to each other, and to their own minorities, have slipped a long way back to barbarism. We have to go to the Middle Ages, or to the primitive state of races now regarded as civilized, to match the savagery and cruelty that they show toward each other in warfare. And their economic wars are in many ways as ruthless and primitive as their military wars.

Economic warfare, too, develops within nations to a degree that makes group rivalry and political strife more bitter than recent generations have known. It seems to many who take a broad and long-range view of human experience, that civilization today is in one of its greatest crises. Will it destroy itself? Will it turn into conscienceless robots? Or will there come eventually a new and greater flowering of human living?

LICENSE TAGS FOR TOTS

A police chief in the Middle West suggested the use of license plates for children. By that he means "numbered tags corresponding with names and addresses kept in an index at the police station." Children would wear the tags when they went out to play. Lost youngsters could be quickly identified by this means and returned to parents before the latter had time to become alarmed.

It seems to be a good idea, although more elaborate in detail than necessary. Why not simply identification tags? They would require only a quick glance and a step to the nearest telephone for anyone to notify the parents of the location of their lost offspring. Often, of course, the youngster who gets lost is the one who has wandered away from the shelter of his own home, moved by some sudden wanderlust or desire to visit a relative in another part of town. Such a little adventurer might get away without his tag.

Careful parents, however, teach children to say their own names as clearly as possible as soon as they learn to talk, and teach them their fathers' and mothers' names as well. It is a good plan, too, when families plan to be in a crowded place—a big picnic in a park, a fair, or a public gathering of any sort—to find out in advance where lost children will be taken care of, and then make special effort not to let any get lost.

The Jews are German scapegoats, paying for the Nazis' sins by being driven into the wilderness. But whom will the Nazis blame for their troubles when the Jews have all gone?

BIRTH

Life is a pebble in a brook,
A tiny shining stone,
Which Fate, not taking time to look,
Into the stream has thrown.
And now the ripples start away,
But just how far they'll go
The stone itself can never say
And fate can never know.

Changed is the surface of the stream
And changed the farthest shore.
And altered many things will seem Henceforth forevermore.

Likewise, when here a soul arrives
To someone born to be,
No one can guess how many lives
Shall share its destiny.

THINNING OUT LONDON

While many of our great American cities are still seeking more population, and concentrating huge skyscrapers and apartment houses in their downtown areas, London, the greatest of modern Babylons, is trying to thin itself out. A planning group of the county council has prepared an ambitious program of decentralization showing the metropolis as it may be a quarter of a century from now.

"The population is moving outward from the center of London toward the periphery," explains one of the experts. "Roads are rapidly becoming more important than tubes and railways. We believe that, by exploiting this outward movement along the roads, we can drain central London of its parasitic elements."

"We envisage a road system resembling the spokes of a wheel—the main arteries running out of London (the central city), with corresponding wedges of countryside running closer in. This plan is like a target of three rings."

The inner ring will contain the old London, with its cultural, political and amusement centers, with more breathing space than it has now. The next ring will have skyscrapers for business and residence, "a ring of towers standing in their own parks." The outer ring will consist of "neighborhood units," with light industries, schools, residential areas, and so on, developed with the main arterial roads. "Wedges of countryside" are to be driven into the city "right to the center."

That will make a much finer, pleasanter, more healthful London. It would be well if our big cities could plan in the same way, while it is still easier for them than it is for London, and before some of them choke themselves to death. And small, growing cities should take the hint.

THAT AUSTRIAN DEBT

The United States government naturally assumes that the German government, when it took over Austria, also took over the Austrian debt to this country, and so asks Berlin to remit the payments due on $26,000,000 of post-war bonds and other obligations.

More than that amount of cash was lying in the Austrian treasury when Hitler rushed an army across the border and took possession. The gold was immediately hauled to Berlin and dumped into the Nazi treasury.

The Austrians, being naturally an honorable nation, would like to see the debt paid. But will the Hitler government do the honorable thing? It is very unlikely. What the Hitlerites get, of territory or money, they keep. They no longer recognize the old code of national honor. They recognize only their own code, which gives the new Germany a divine right to anything it can grab and hold. The claim, however, will stand as a financial club over Hitler's head. Thus it has some moral value.

All cities are congratulating themselves on getting improvements built by the federal government, and all will pay for them just the same.

They say there's no Christianity in international relations, but look at the way Prime Minister Chamberlain turns the other cheek when a British ship is sunk.

NAZI SALUTES!

ECONOMIC REALISM

An article in the current University of Virginia Quarterly is reported as setting forth this interesting doctrine:

That the economics of the classroom "must be balanced hereafter by consideration of the human element," a process often ignored by both college and business economists of the old school.

As an illustration, the writer points out that calculations of wages, hours and production are of little value unless, along with their mathematics, they consider the human resistance of labor to wage cuts and of employer to wage increases.

Anything like this, a practical person would suppose, is elementary. Yet throughout the great depression we have seen economic "authorities" insisting on the rigid application of supposed "economic laws" laid down about the time the steam engine was invented and before electric power houses were dreamed of—although these two inventions have transformed the world.

What many pedantic economists seem to ignore, in spite of the living facts all around them, is that "economic laws" are merely statements of how people act in trying to make a living. The unpredictable force of human nature often changes their action from the pattern laid down in books by scholars of past times. We have seen, in recent years, people driven by industrialization, social strain and political pressure virtually creating new economic laws.

It is more necessary today than ever before to be realistic to face facts even when they interfere with theories.

CALM LOSERS

German officials and the general public came through their shock at Schmeling's defeat better than might have been expected from their hysterical attitude before the title fight, and their extravagant advance claims of victory. In fact, they have accepted it pretty much in the manner of good sports anywhere.

Is this another example of German readiness to calm down quickly when confronted with firm and strong opposition?

"Leisure is no substitute for work," says President Dodd of Princeton. Neither, says a lazy friend, is work any substitute for leisure.

"What is the eternal quest?" asks a philosophic author. Probably the quest for relief funds.

SAFETY CAMPAIGN IN WATER STRESSED BY INSTRUCTOR

INTERESTING AND VALUABLE POINTERS GIVEN BY C. F. BROUGHTON

The following article was prepared by C. F. Broughton, Y. M. C. A. physical director and swimming instructor, and announced today a water safety campaign: All beginners should first be warned that when in or near the water that at no time should any chances be taken or at any time should the pleasure of another swimmer be infringed upon by splashing water upon them or by pushing them into the water. This will cause a beginner to become afraid of the water and will never develop into a good swimmer, thus losing a capable of the water. At some time during the life of this "would be" swimmer one may drown right under his eyes and he will not be able to do anything about it because of the fear of the water which was instilled into him back during his beginner days.

All swimmers should learn the causes of cramps and how to take care of one's self as well as of others. A swimmer suffering from a cramp may check directly to one of the following causes: First, entering the water and indulging in excessive exercise too soon after a meal or eating something which has not been digested. A stomach cramp is the worst of the dangers because an excellent swimmer has difficulty and in many instances is not able to get out of the water alive. Therefore, let all swimmers take warning not to swim excessively in deep water after a meal. Always wait at least an hour and a half. Other cramps are effected because of fatigue or an unnatural position of some part of the body which is being used during swimming. Such a cramp may be rubbed out in most cases if the subject will relax and gather his wits and immerse so as to be able to get to the aching muscle without treading the remaining strength to the extent some one will have to effect a rescue. In case the rescue is necessary, be at ease and give the rescuer full co-operation in his efforts to save your life. Other cramps are caused from poor circulation of the blood through the muscles of the body. This is a case for a swimmer to seek medical aid and attention for his own safety and the safety of others.

It is the duty of every living person to join into a water safety brigade and cut the number of drownings to a minimum. Anyone might at anytime effect a rescue though not be a swimmer, and not enter the water, as a lifeline may be quickly made from one or two pairs of pants if the bystander is a man or a couple of men. One or more ladies could create a life line by the unification of their stockings. After a rescue the subject may be full of water both in the stomach and in the lungs. Schaeffer's Method of Resuscitation should be employed to get the body empty of the excess water and bring about the proper functioning of the lungs. In addition to knowing the method of reviving life a fair knowledge of First Aid should be known by all.

Resuscitation and First Aid. A subject that needs resuscitation should immediately be placed face down on a level surface or with the head slightly lower. In simple words life subject from surface by slipping hands under the stomach and locking fingers together and standing upright and jolting. This will create a flow of water from the stomach and will help in your effort to restore activity of the organs which have been flooded with water.

After the person has been irrigated replace him upon the surface and straighten the arms over head with one curled under as a pillow. See that there is nothing in the subject's mouth and that the tongue is in good shape. It is known that a drowning man causes one to chew their tongue until it is in a bad shape. After the position has been made, make certain all stress is placed on effecting revived breathing. If such does not succeed do not stop such until a physician pronounces death and "rigor mortis" sets in. The position of the rescuer's hands and the application applied has a lot to do with the success of one's efforts. Success spells gratification. Failure produces forlorn, therefore, learn the application of the Resuscitation Method and never vary its use.

In giving a mental picture, first imagine a pair of hands, one placed in a parallel position on the floating ribs of the patient. The next position is the position to take when applying the method. Kneel at the subject's knees with a straddled position, knees clamped just above knee cap, so as to be able to keep the subject from slipping forward as pressure is applied. You now see someone kneeling over a body holding a knee between the ribs and with a pair of hands extended forward and fingers together.

Check upon your own breathing and see if you do not breathe more easily by inhaling and exhaling only 12-14 times a minute. Therefore a goal for you to attain in the pressure applied at a rate of not less than 12 times and not more than 14 times a minute.

As only your body weight is used, this rate will not tire you. You may vary many an hour. With straight arms extended, and placed on the floating ribs, learn forward and apply pressure in a downward and up movement.

NINETEEN TEXANS DIED VIOLENTLY IN WEEKEND HOLIDAY

TEN KILLED IN TRAFFIC AC- CIDENTS, FOUR SLAIN AND FOUR DROWNED

By The Associated Press.
Tragedy paid its usual visit to a celebrating Texas over the Fourth-of-July weekend, but Beaumont, one of the nation's safest cities, kept its record unsmirched.

Nineteen died violent deaths; scores were injured along the width and breadth of Texas. Beaumont sympathized, butyawned, as police reported four minor accidents with total damage of $50. There were no deaths or injuries from violence.

Beaumont, in 1937, was adjudged one of the two safest cities in the nation.

Meanwhile, Beaumont's neighboring city, Port Arthur, boasted a July Fourth traffic record with not one accident reported Monday.

Port Arthur has had only one traffic accident this year, and it was listed as "unavoidable."

Traffic accidents claimed ten lives and accounted for at least 35 injuries, four were without death and four wounded in shootings; four were drowned; one died in a construction mishap. Others were wounded, some by fireworks.

Independence Day, Marvin Stratton, 19, of near Weatherford, was killed and his father and two cousins injured seriously in the crash of their automobile in a telephone pole near Weatherford.

Mrs. Nettie Mae Coomer, 24, was killed when she was struck by a train near her home at Fort Worth. Johnny Mae Gray, 17, of Abilene, fell from the running board of an automobile as she was returning home from an outing and was injured fatally.

Joe Termin, 37, Dallas automobile race driver, died when his machine left the track and plunged through the fence during Fourth of July races at Haskell.

Roy Shufelt, 43, Houston refinery worker, was shot to death by Charles Carter, 15, who was accidentally near Katy, Harris county, as he and a companion engaged in target shooting. A negro woman was killed at Houston in the scuffle for a gun.

Mrs. Odie Knight, 25, and her niece, Laverne Eason, 15, drowned in a lake near Grand Saline.

Other deaths occurred Saturday and Sunday.

Texas Traffic Toll Below Estimates

AUSTIN, July 5.—(AP)—State police officials noted with pleasure today holiday week-end deaths on Texas highways fell eight short of their pre-holiday prediction based on recent trends.

Reports to the public safety department showed eight persons died in traffic against 16 they feared might be victims of speed, recklessness and carelessness.

There were only two reported drownings compared with an estimated five.

Last year 12 persons died in roadway mishaps the year before that 22 succumbed.

Nine persons actually died as the result of crashes this year but one occurred on a race track and was not classified as a traffic fatality.

Captain Homer Garrison, assistant public safety director, attributed the reduction over past years to more cautious driving in part from widespread publicity given pleas by the department and local authorities for safer driving.

STRAGGLING RANKS OF BLUE AND GRAY QUIT GETTYSBURG

PLEDGED 'ETERNAL PEACE IN A NATION UNITED' AS COMRADES

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 5.—(AP)—Bound by comradeship, the straggling ranks of the Blue and the Gray began their last retreat today from the field where they locked in combat 75 years ago.

Unlike 1862, when the Gray was pursued and the Blue Pursuer, they left together—in peace. They are pledged by their own words and the words of their President to "eternal peace in a nation united," a pledge uttered in the shadow of the flaming beacon atop Oak Hill that was lighted Sunday.

Some of the 2,000 veterans who have been here as guests of the government for the 75th battle anniversary know they never will return. Through one eventful week, they rekindled the camp fires of their memory, lived again the days of '61 to '65 when brother fought against brother, neighbor against neighbor and friend against friend.

Few of the 2,000 fought at Gettysburg; few of them can recall the futile fury of Pickett's charge or the bloody slaughter of the wheatfield and the peach orchard. But they are heroes all, honored, as President Roosevelt put it on Sunday, "not asking under which flag they fought, then—thankful that they stand together under one flag now."

The last formal program for the veterans was the display of fireworks last night from the crest of Oak Hill where the peace light burns.

Wayne R. Howell, judge of the Thirtieth judicial district court here, Tuesday filed his affidavit of disqualification as the trial judge of the case in Re: Bessie L. Hoffstetter, deceased, First National Bank of Corsicana, Texas, executor.

BLUNT WARNING IS GIVEN CONCERNING REFUGEE MIGRATION

HEAD OF UNITED STATES DELEGATION ADDRESSED CONFERENCE OPENING

EVIAN - LES - BAINS, France, July 6.—(AP)—Myron C. Taylor, head of the United States delegation, gave a blunt warning to the 32-nation conference on refugees today that forced migration of political and racial groups can bring "catastrophic suffering upon the world."

Addressing the opening session of the meeting, result of President Roosevelt's invitation to other nations to discuss the refugee problem, Taylor said "refugees are not a humanitarian strain" were unavoidable results of this migration.

He named only one country—Germany.

"I need not emphasize that discrimination and pressure against minority groups and disregard of elementary human life are contrary to the principles of what we have come to regard as accepted standards of civilization," the former head of the United States Steel Corporation declared.

He outlined the scope of the conference as to take in all problems dealing with the "great bodies of reluctant migrants who must be absorbed in abnormal circumstances with a disregard of economic conditions and at a time of stress in some countries."

This wave of migration, he said caustically, is forced upon the world at large and "artificially stimulated by governmental practices in some countries."

He predicted "catastrophic human suffering" unless nations unite in an effort to halt this "anarchical" practice "by some governmental action."

Taylor's address was the principal business of the opening session. The conference was inaugurated by Henry Berenger, chairman of the French senate's committee on foreign affairs, who formally welcomed the delegates.

The conference received a memorandum from Francesco Nitti, exiled former premier of Italy, asking that the question of Italian refugees be taken up jointly with the German and Austrian discussions.

Many Austrians would leave. An Austrian refugee leader, Arthur Rosenberg, told American delegates he believed 75 per cent of Austrians would leave their country if allowed to take their ancestral part of their property with them.

The United States delegation, headed by Myron C. Taylor, former head of the United States Steel Corporation, took the lead in preliminary negotiations for settling the refugee problem—made acute by the Austro-German union March 13.

The Americans made it plain, however, that the United States' attitude was one of helpfulness rather than direction. Officials said they were trying to help shape plans but we do not intend to be the final judges of whatever may be done."

Consequently some hesitation was shown in considering French plans to make Taylor chairman of the conference, officially known as the Intergovernmental Committee on Political Refugees.

Taylor said he was inclined to refuse to serve and other Americans said frankly they hoped "it would not happen."

The conference program listed four important items:

1. Steps to facilitate settlement in other countries of German political refugees, who, for the purposes of the conference, were defined as "persons desiring to leave Germany as well as those who have left already."
2. Immediate assistance for the most urgent cases within existing immigration laws.
3. A system of registering refugees who lack official papers and are unable to obtain any.
4. Establishment of a permanent intergovernmental committee to work out long-range refugee problems in co-operation with existing agencies.

GENERAL HEALTH CONDITIONS IN TEXAS REPORTED AS BEING VERY GOOD BY HEALTH OFFICER

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL.

AUSTIN, July 6.—(AP)—Health conditions over Texas generally are "very good," says Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer.

On June 28 no more cases of infantile paralysis, most prevalent in summer months, had been reported and Dr. Cox thought it possible Texas might not experience this year as severe an onslaught of the disease as last.

"Infantile paralysis seems to occur in cycles," he said. "We might not have another siege for a long time."

Typhoid fever had appeared in "isolated spots," as had smallpox, the health officer added.

"We are able to control typhoid because people are learning it can be prevented by inoculations," he said. "It is a good idea to have inoculations every two years."

Two cases of typhus fever, a comparatively rare disease, have appeared this year in Austin, one in April and another in June.

As a result, city health officials are stepping up the war which they maintain in some form all the time against rats. Typhus is transmitted by fleas from infected rats.

The season brings certain hazards to all Texas cities because tourists may spread disease. Last February an outbreak of smallpox in Austin was traced to a couple who stopped at a small hotel. After the man and woman had left two persons at the hotel developed smallpox.

Dr. George M. Decherd, Austin health officer, has a tip for homes where there are young children.

"Don't let milk stay out on front steps longer than necessary," he says. "There may be quite a temperature change in a short time, especially if the sun strikes the bottles, and a temperature increase tends to increase the bacteria count in milk."

"The change in the milk might prove upsetting to babies or very young children whereas it might not affect adults."

Gov. Clyde Tingley of New Mexico is, in the opinion of Gov. James V. Allred, a champion at issue challenges.

At a press conference Gov. Allred was informed that Gov. Tingley, through the press, had challenged him to a calf-roping contest.

"Clyde is the longest man on challenges that I know," Allred laughed.

He suggested that the governor of New Mexico go to the Colorado State Fair if he wanted to find someone against whom to pit his calf-roping prowess.

Earlier in the year Tingley challenged the Texas governor to a bronc riding match.

Courtesy information stations at principal gateways into Texas are being operated by the state highway department.

Stations are located at Denison, Canutillo, Farwell, Gainesville, Laredo, Marshall, Odessa, Pecos, Shamrock, Texarkana, Texline and Wichita Falls.

Students from state-supported colleges, chosen because they need the work and have good personnel, make up the personnel.

Before going to stations they were instructed in the information they were to dispense and how to greet tourists.

They disseminate primarily information on highways, hotels, tourist camps, points of scenic laws, rules and regulations, registration requirements, climatic and historic interest, highway conditions and resources and industries of Texas.

The idea of courtesy stations to serve visitors to the state originated in the centennial year of 1896. The stations were so popular that the legislature by resolution requested the highway department to continue them.

The first year the personnel was composed only of students from Texas A. and M. but later it was decided to include selections from other state-supported colleges.

An Oklahoma woman or girl named Louise Hodges has written the "sales tax division" at the Texas state capitol to ascertain if "mills" set in Texans' hair.

"I am desirous of compiling my collection of mills, sales tax tokens, from each state in the union thus cursed," her letter said.

"As I remember when last I was a visitor in Texas, that centennial" and it was marvelous, Texas didn't use mills at the time—but since it now competes with Oklahoma in its number of gubernatorial candidacies, I thought perhaps mills got in people's hair there, too.

"If, as I hope for your sakes, you do not use these pesky things, send me some campaign literature. We need a new slogan besides 'a chicken in every pot as we now haven't even the pot.'"

Gambling Plank In N. Y. Constitution Ridiculed by Smith

ALBANY, N. Y., July 7.—(AP)—Former democratic governor, Alfred E. Smith today ridiculed New York's constitutional ban on gambling as "equally as foolish as the 18th amendment."

Smith, a prominent Catholic layman, made the assertion as the constitutional convention debated a republican-authored proposal to erase the prohibition from the organic law.

"Take this clause out of the constitution, let the legislature make a sane and sensible definition of gambling and you will be able to enforce it because the people will be behind you," the former governor urged.

Explosion Kills Four and Dozen Others Injured

GEORGE WEST, July 6.—(AP)—Flames from an explosion-torn cafe today took a fourth victim while two others, burned badly, were near death in a nearby Three Rivers hospital.

Sudden explosion of a fuel tank in the rear of the cafe late yesterday sent a stream of fire through the establishment. The tank was being refilled at the time.

Little Patsy Jean Morris, 6, of San Antonio, and John Lytle, cafe cook, succumbed last night. Early today James Thomas Davis of San Antonio, driver of the truck, died and shortly before noon Mrs. Voss Yates, a cafe customer, died. Critically injured were Mrs. J. Morris of San Antonio and Mr. Yates of San Diego, Texas.

Seven others also were hurt.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION LEFT TRAIL DESTRUCTION

INDICATIONS THAT FIREWORKS TOLL PRACTICALLY ELIMINATED

By The Associated Press.

The toll of America's holiday deaths—at least 518 died violently celebrating the 162nd anniversary of Independence—showed today the nation has practically eliminated fireworks fatalities but has failed to quell the menace of the motor car.

Only three persons were killed by fireworks—all of the "home-made" variety. Motor crashes on packed highways, however, claimed at least 258 lives.

The rush for beaches and lake and river resorts to escape moderate heat in some sections resulted in 139 drownings.

Reports from 48 states and the District of Columbia also showed 27 persons were shot to death, 20 committed suicide, 15 were killed by trains and 50 died in various mishaps such as falls, lightning and home accidents.

The toll of 518 was below that of the Fourth of July week-end in 1937, when 565 were killed, but more than the number for the Memorial Day week-end—280.

New York, with 39 deaths, led the states. Pennsylvania was second with 33, Michigan third with 27 and Illinois fourth with 26.

Fire accidents took many lives. One Missouri resident was struck and killed by a chunk of ice. A 16-year-old girl in Brooklyn was fatally wounded by a stray bullet as she sat in a window watching a fireworks display in the street below.

A boy was killed and 17 men, women and children were injured when three racing cars plowed into a group of spectators at Hotchkiss, N. J.

The fireworks victims were killed by their own "inventions." Exploding powder poured into a piece of iron pipe fatally injured a Maryland boy. In Pennsylvania a man was killed by a home-made cannon and another by a bomb-fashioned from an automobile wheel pin.

AUGUSTA, Ga., July 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Wade R. Beddingfield, wife of a prominent Augusta physician, and her son, Bruce, 12, were found dead in a gas-filled bedroom today.

Dr. Beddingfield, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, was en route to Houston, Tex., with the other son, Wade, Jr.

Chief of Detectives Will U. Reed said the windows in the bedroom were closed and the doors fastened except for one leading to the bathroom. In the bathroom was a gas mask, unlighted and turned on full.

Mrs. Beddingfield had been in ill health.

GLENN FALLS, N. Y., July 5.—(AP)—Ellenor Flynn, 27, radio and stage actress, was injured fatally yesterday in an automobile accident.

Donald C. Cunnion, sports editor of the Glen Falls Post Star, who was driving the car in which she was riding when it ran off the highway, was injured seriously. Miss Flynn appeared in numerous radio network shows, including the Billy and Betty program.

Hastings Harrison And Family Visit Corsicana, Dawson

A. Hastings Harrison, former general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., of Corsicana, is visiting for a few days his friends here and at Dawson. His wife and two children, Jo Fay and Hubert are with him.

Mr. Harrison has just completed a campaign for the Tulsa Y. M. C. A. of $80,000 for the purpose of modernizing the YMCA building and twenty thousand dollars of this amount for the purpose of the payment of debts of long standing to the YMCA before he went to Tulsa as general secretary.

To the People Of Navarro County

In my campaign for State Representative I assume: That our people are a reading and thinking people; that they will weigh the qualifications and fitness of a candidate; and that in casting their ballots they will protect and promote their own and their state's interest by selecting qualified officials.

It is impossible for one to personally solicit the support of every voter and I am required to depend largely upon the public press and my friends to extend my solicitations of support. I think it unseemly that any person having the requisite qualifications to fill the office I seek should go out and make a personal campaign and seek to convince the voter that he is the one who ought to be selected.

It is absurd for a candidate for the State Legislature to have a platform. My platform shall be that of the State Democratic Convention which convenes early in September. Imagine one hundred eighty-one men going into the Legislative Halls each with a separate platform. It would be ridiculous wouldn't it?

I shall insist upon the most rigid economy in state expenditures. The Legislature has no right to be liberal or extravagant in spending public funds. The office holder must be restrained in his demand for greater pay. The plain, ordinary, God-fearing, working people must be protected from the grater and tax-eater.

I am sure every thinking person will give me credit for being sincere when I say I covet your good-will, your confidence, and your support in this campaign.

Respectfully submitted,
R. R. OWEN,
Candidate for State Representative
Fifty-eighth District.

SEVENTEEN-POINT DIAGNOSIS SOUTH'S ECONOMIC PROBLEMS

COMMITTEE OF SEVENTEEN SOUTHERNERS ANALYZE BAD SITUATION

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(AP)—A committee of seventeen approved today a 17-point diagnosis of the South's economic ills as a step toward solving what President Roosevelt has termed the nation's "No. 1 economic problem."

The analysis of conditions in 14 states had been prepared by government experts for the national emergency council. The Dixie delegation of 23 businessmen and educators went over it in detail yesterday.

Lowell C. Mellett, NEC director, who arranged the conference at Mr. Roosevelt's suggestion, joined the delegates in explaining that the survey did not contain recommendations. Corrective measures, he added, could be suggested at another time.

The analysis included soil and water resources, ownership of industries, and wage and hour standards. The delegates did not refer specifically, however, to the new wage-hour law.

Mellett said the survey would be submitted to the president for transmission to congress.

Mr. Roosevelt said in a message of greeting to the conference:

"It is a privilege to welcome the South presents right now the nation's No. 1 economic problem—the nation's problem, not merely the South's. For we have an economic imbalance in the cotton, a whole, due to this very condition of the South. It is an imbalance that can and must be righted for the sake of the South and the nation."

Chairman John D. M. Hamilton of the Republican national committee, commenting on the president's message, said today he "sincerely hoped that Mr. Roosevelt's concern over the South is not dictated by partisan political motives."

Details of the 17-point analysis approved by the Southerners will not be made public for about 10 days. However, the survey said generally that:

1. No other similar area in the world games on a single crop as the South does on cotton. Southern farmers receive less than one-third of the total farm income, although they constitute one-half the total rural population.

2. Agriculture is unable to provide an adequate income for the South's workers. Expansion of industry there has been inadequate to absorb workers who have moved from farms to cities.

3. Widespread unemployment is not a depression phenomenon in the South. Absentee ownership of industry and land has added to this problem.

4. The South has a greater excess of population than any other sector. Excess of births is 10 per 1000, compared with a national average of seven per 1000.

5. The South is wealthy in natural resources and advantages, but is poor in ownership and control of those assets.

6. Southern states are compelled to educate one-third of the nation's children on one-sixth of the nation's educational expenditure.

RICHLAND WILL SPONSOR ANOTHER SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT THIS YEAR

Streetman Won Two Games vs. Richland

STREETMAN, July 6.—(Spl.)—Streetman boys and girls softball teams Monday night plastered victories over their arch rivals, the Richlanders, the girls winning 8-2 while the boys lambed the pellet to all corners of the lot for a 9-2 decision. A crowd of 1,200 paid admissions of softball enthusiasts from Williamsburg and Freestone counties witnessed the interesting melees.

Big Monk Steels, the pitching ace of the local club, was in rare form, allowing Richland only one hit while whiffing an even dozen batters.

Twelve base hits were credited Streetman batters off the delivery of Scarborough. Hitting stars for the winners included R. Steels, Bryant, E. McKissack, J. McKissack with two knocks each.

PRESIDENT HINTS AT REORGANIZATION ISSUE ON HIS TOUR

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's assertion that the country wants—and will get—a government reorganization law indicated today he might point up the issue during his cross country speaking tour.

The president told reporters yesterday that the executive branch of the government should be put on a business basis, that the people want it done, and that it is only a matter of working out details to accomplish it.

A new measure is expected to be presented to the 1939 congress, probably combining features of the bill passed by the senate last spring and the one shelved by the house after a hard-fought battle.

Senator Byrd (D-Va.), who opposed the administration's reorganization program, agreed today that some sort of measure probably would be enacted next year.

PROFIT SELLING IN INDUSTRIALS TIPPED STOCK MARKET OVER

HEAVY MORNING BUYING HAD SENT RAILS AND UTILITIES MUCH HIGHER

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, July 7.—(AP)—Profit selling in industrials tipped over the stock market today after heavy morning buying had sent rails and utilities much higher.

Purchasing orders from all parts of the country had abroad piled up overnight in brokerage offices and, for 53 minutes after the opening, the ticker tape was much as 7 minutes behind. Blocks of 100,000 shares of steel, oil and other values were simultaneously with the resumption of the upturn with gains ranging from 1 to more than 3 points. The new stock exchange "flash" system was again put to use for the first time in several days to bring instantaneous quotations of leaders to boards.

There was a subsequent substantial slow-down in offerings and a return to the strong industrial of the past two weeks. At the start of the final hour volume again expanded briskly on the downside and continued to decline in fractions to a point or more in numerous cases. The ticker once more lagged 2 minutes for a brief interval.

Most railroads and utilities were given a belated run-up. Transfers were around 2,700,000 shares, the approval of the Interstate Commerce commission of the petition of eastern roads for an increase of 1-2 cent per mile in passenger fares. Most railroads were sold at the finish, but down from the best.

Other Sustaining Influences

In addition to the railway ruling, sustained influences were seen in optimistic comments of Washington authorities and further signs business and industry may be getting ready to register some real recovery.

Railway bonds maintained their lead in the loans department, but even these lost some of their rising momentum. Commitment sales were strong in foreign markets and the dollar moved up in terms of principal European currencies, reflecting partly talk of a new stabilization when the Anglo-American trade treaty is signed and the possible migration of funds to Wall Street.

Wheat and corn yielded 5-8 to 7-8 of a cent a bushel and corn was 1-8 down to up as much. Cotton in late dealings was off about 50 cents a bale.

Foreword stocks the greater part of the time were N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, Pullman, Consolidated Edison and American Telephone. Douglas Aircraft, General Electric, and others were also active.

In trouble were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, and others.

General Electric, Johns-Manville, Du Pont, American Smelting and others were also active.

The curb market was a bit ragged.

CONSUL

the result of spreading "propaganda."

Duplan said he went to McKennon's farm in response to a plea from Memeles Perales, Mexican national, that McKennon was threatening to put him off the farm before the cotton crop he had helped cultivate was gathered.

Duplan said he asked the embassy to obtain guarantees from United States authorities "in accordance with international law in order that I may be able to fulfill my duties as consul in Mexico." The consul also wired the Mexican consul general in San Antonio and asked him to protest to Governor James V. Allred.

Justice of the Peace Hicks at Rosenberg said today he had not issued a warrant for the arrest of McKennon.

"He is in my office now," he said. "It is not necessary to arrest him. He is a deputy sheriff of this county."

Informed that Consul Duplan was wiring to Washington, the justice of the peace said:

"He's spreading propaganda about something of which he knows nothing. There's no use to wire Washington to get them to tell us how to run our county. I never heard of Washington interfering with a little charge of disturbing the peace. If Mr. Duplan wants to prosecute this case, he's better come on down here. We're ready."

First Execution In Century Now Slated In Michigan Friday

DETROIT, July 7.—(AP)—The last legal obstacle to Michigan's first execution in 108 years was removed today.

Federal Judge Arthur J. Tuttle ruled he had "neither the power nor the inclination" to interfere with the hanging, at the federal detention farm at Milan, Mich., at sunrise Friday.

Anthony Chebatoris, convicted bank robber killer.

The judge's statement was in answer to an inquiry whether the execution could be transferred to another state. Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan, pointing out this state has no provision for the death penalty for an offense such as Chebatoris' had asked.

President Roosevelt to transfer the execution or commute the sentence.

Only a commutation by the President now could save Chebatoris from the hangman's rope, and the President has said he could find no justification for such action.

LAND PURCHASE PROGRAM AND RURAL REHABILITATION WORK ARE BEING CARRIED TOGETHER

By JOHN H. CAUFIELD
Farm Security Administration
DALLAS, July 7.—(AP)—A land purchase program for tenant farmers is being carried out by farm security administration under title 1 of the new Bankhead-Jones act, and under title 11 is administering what is known as "rural rehabilitation." Beneficiaries are drawn from the bottom of the tenancy ladder in expectation of moving them, step by step, to the point where they also will be ready to graduate into ownership of land, a live-at-home program shifts them from a one-sided cotton program to livestock and subsisting farming.

Cotton farming may not be the cause of tenancy, but seventy-three per cent of cotton farms are tenant operated. Only twenty-one per cent of the United States were tenant operated in 1930, and the trend is toward a still smaller percentage.

A second fundamental of the rehabilitation program is to loan farmers from the half-and-half or "cropper" system. The cropper, who has no livestock or equipment of his own, is not even entitled to a share of the crop, but is classified as a farm laborer.

Where croppers are qualified to become true tenants the farm security administration is financing the purchase of livestock and equipment and helping them to develop plans of farm and home management under which they may grow in managerial ability. It helps them to scale up better land and on farms large enough to return an adequate income, and to negotiate leases which will give them a longer term of years upon these farms, with compensation for improvements upon land and buildings.

Acreage too small to give an adequate return has been one of the most potent factors in failure of both tenants and land owners. Tenants receiving rural rehabilitation in the southwestern cotton area in early stages of the program were operating thirty-one acres of land, while tenants who stayed off relief were operating one hundred and thirteen acres.

Owners receiving rehabilitation aid were operating an average of thirty-three acres compared with one hundred seventy-six for owners who were able to weather the storm. In the past year the average size of the farm operated by rehabilitation borrowers in Texas increased from thirty-eight acres to fifty-five. Eight thousand, or almost one-half of the Texas borrowers, were enabled to locate on better land than they had worked the year before.

Indications these Texas families are moving toward economic independence is seen in the increase in average net worth from $242 per family at the time they were taken into the program, to $410 per family at the close of 1937. Their assets consist primarily of livestock and equipment, bought with farm security administration loans, and in home-grown canned goods and other foods they put up under farm security administration guidance.

In order to provide home-grown feed for their livestock, the rehabilitation borrowers of Texas last year put up more than double the acreage planted the year before they were accepted for rehabilitation. Two hundred and fifty trench silos were constructed last year, the result from which were no profitable that approximately one-half of the borrowers are expected to construct them this year.

FEDERAL AID HAS FAILED IN THE PAST TO LIFT LANDLESS GROUP INTO LAND OWNERSHIP

By JOHN H. CAUFIELD
Farm Security Administration
DALLAS, July 6.—(AP)—Government aid in the past failed to lift the landless group into land ownership, halt the steady increase in tenancy, or the concentration of more and more land into fewer hands. The national resources board defined the essential weakness of state and federal land ownership programs thus:

"Comparatively little attention was given to the training of prospective settlers or to their subsequent guidance. It had been assumed that if men could be helped to acquire farms, the rest could be left to their individual initiative. Subsequent experience did not support this assumption."

"This new approach indicated by the national resources board has been accepted by the farm security administration in its program of putting land into the hands of the man who cultivates it. Farm security's program was defined by the new Bankhead-Jones farm tenant act, passed during the summer of 1937.

President Roosevelt's committee on farm tenancy had recommended a procedure under which land would be bought by the government and sold to tenants after a trial lease period not to exceed five years. The senate had passed, in June 1935, an act endorsing this principle, but opposition developed in the house based on the objection that the government should not go into the "land business," that is, that the government should not buy land and resell it. As worked out in conference, the act provided for loans secured by first mortgages.

The security of agriculture may prescribe covenants which will assure proper farm practices and guard against speculation. Should the borrower sell the farm without first obtaining the consent of the secretary, the latter may declare the unpaid balance immediately due and payable, and he may invoke the same penalty if the borrower fails to comply with any of the conditions in regard to farming practices.

In accordance with the provisions of this bill, state advisory boards were set up in each of the last fall, and these committees selected a limited number of counties in which loans were made for purchase of land by tenants. In each of these counties three successful farmers living upon their own land were made a county advisory committee to select purchasers and to pass upon the value of the land and the applicants to buy. Efficiency of their work was demonstrated in stretching the money made available to them to buy 150 farms in Texas instead of the 137 expected, and in Oklahoma, instead of the 69, in Oklahoma.

There were fifteen applicants for each loan which could be made from available funds, and the committees were really able to choose from the very best tenant farmers in these counties. It had been advertised that only the "cream of the tenants" would be selected, and the applicants of such a high type that committees estimated fifty to seventy-five per cent of them would probably make good as purchasers, under the Bankhead-Jones plan.

Three per cent interest is charged on the loan and amortization is over a period of forty years. Total payment to be made each year amounts to four and three-tenths per cent to cover both principal and interest, or less than most tenants in Texas and Oklahoma pay in rent.

A study by Dr. C. L. Hamilton of the Texas experiment station shows that in East Texas tenants are paying as rent five and one-tenth per cent of the market value of the land they operate, and in Central Texas they are paying six and one-half, and on the South Plains, nine and one-tenth per cent. The Bankhead-Jones plan simplifies the payments still more by permitting the amount paid to vary with the size of the crop and the price obtained by the farmer. In years of good crops and good prices the purchaser will be required to pay more than four and three-tenths per cent and will be allowed to pay less in years of poor yields or low prices.

Silver Moving Task Started; Take 10 Months

NEW YORK, July 6.—(AP)—Twenty-five trucks, each carrying nearly 12 tons of Uncle Sam's silver, started today one of the biggest hauling jobs ever undertaken—the removal of $1,200,000,000 worth of bar silver to the government's new storage vault at West Point.

Soon after dawn, the trucks left the U. S. assay office here with a convoy of 50 coastguardsmen, carrying silver.

Amid milk wagons and produce trucks, they rumbled off with their silver cargo on the 50-mile trip that included 10 miles of hills.

Ten months will be required to transfer approximately 1,000,000 bars of silver to the bullion vault on the edge of the United States military academy at West Point.

The treasury awarded the contract to Peter J. Malley's trucking company, which has never been hijacked since Malley's father started the business 70 years ago with horse-drawn drays.

The firm's bid was $157,000 for transporting the silver. To complete the job, the trucks will travel a combined mileage equal to 30 times around the world.

Suggest Inquiry In Death Horlick Heirress

TORONTO, July 7.—(Canadian Press)—Gordon Conant, Ontario attorney-general, today suggested that full inquiry be made into the death yesterday of Mrs. Maybelle Horlick Sidley of Chicago, heirress to the Horlick Malted Milk fortune estimated at $20,000,000.

Mrs. Sidley died here at Park Hall, the home of W. Perkins Bull.

Asked whether he had been requested to have the inquiry made Conant said, "no, I would not say we have been requested to intervene, but the atmosphere of the case puts it on inquiry."

A private autopsy showed the immediate cause of death was edema of the brain, resulting from a lesion of the spinal cord. Dr. W. L. Robinson said death was due to natural causes.

The body of Mrs. Sidley was to be taken today to Racine, Wis., for burial. She is survived by one son, her mother and two brothers.

WAR OF CONQUEST Has Cost Billions

SHANGHAI, July 7.—(AP)—The first year of the Oriental war has seen treasure by the billions tossed into the gamble for an empire.

China has suffered material damage of perhaps $1,000,000,000, counting the dislocation of the nation's economic life. Her costs for waging the war must be of similar amount, but can not be estimated.

Japan has poured at least $2,000,000,000 into her bid for conquest, which has resulted in her nominal occupation of all or considerable portions of nine of China's richest provinces, penetration of her land forces into two others and heavy damage by aerial bombardment in six more.

Foreigners have suffered heavily too, and a fourth of the total foreign investment of some $8,000,000,000 is believed to have been lost.

American citizens' losses up to April were estimated at $150,000,000; British losses at perhaps $200,000,000.

These rough estimates take no account of the vast tragedy that has befallen the Chinese people and the cost in dead and wounded civilians and soldiers, which has risen well above 1,000,000.
